

PSALM 92

A Psalm or Song for the Sabbath day.

Henry Smart, 1867

1 It is a good thing to give thanks unto the LORD,
 4 For thou, LORD, hast made me glad through thy work:
 7 When the wicked spring as the grass,

1 and to sing praises unto thy name,
 4 I will triumph in the works of thy High:
 7 and when all the workers of iniquity do hands, flourish;

2 To show forth thy loving kindness in the morn- ing,
 5 O LORD, how great are thy works!
 7 it is that they shall be de- stroyed for ev- er:

2 and thy faith-ful-ness eve-ry night
 5 and thy thoughts are ver- y deep,
 8 But thou, LORD, art most High for ev- er more.

PSALM 92 p. 2

3 upon an instrument of ten strings, and upon the psalter-y;
6 A brutish man know-eth not;
9 For, to thine enemies, O LORD, for, lo, thine enemies shall per-ish;

3 upon the harp with a solemn sound,
6 neither doth a fool under-stand this,
9 all the workers of in-i-qui-ty shall be scattered.

PSALM 92 p. 3

10 But my horn shalt ————— thou exalt like the horn of an uni—corn:
13 Those that ————— be planted in the house of the LORD —

10 I shall be ————— a-noint-ed with fresh oil.
13 shall flour— ish in the courts of our God.

11 Mine eye also ————— shall see my de—sire on mine ene—mies,
14 They shall still ————— bring forth ————— fruit in old age;

11 and mine ears shall hear my desire of the wick ed that rise up a— gainst me,
14 they ————— shall be fat and flourishing;

PSALM 92 p. 4

12 The righteous shall flourish like the palm tree;
15 To show that the LORD is upright; he is my rock,

12 he shall grow like a cedar in Lebanon.
15 and there is no unrighteousness in him,
